KNIGHTS&KNAVES PRESENT SECOND PASSION PLAY

by Dick Hickey

St. Michael's College Dramatic Club Knights and Knaves will present their 2nd annual production of "Shekels" on Palm Sunday, March 30, at 8:00 P.M. in the Burlington Memorial Auditorium.

The five-act play under the direction of Dr. Armando O. Citarella, moderator of the Knights and Knaves, is a benefit play for the Bishop Rice Memorial High School to be erected in Burlington.

CAST

The cast as a whole, number around 100. There are 45 speaking roles, with the remaining members participating the mob scene.

The leading parts and their players are: Annas, Joseph Mastromatto; Caiaphas, Michael Pelham; Judas, Gerald Cafarelli; John, James Canavan; Simon Peter, George Latimer; Longinus, Stephen Schryver; Petronius, Charles O'Brien; Mary Magdalene, Louella Apiki; Pilate, Jerry Curran; and the Blessed Virgin, Maxine Kaiser, a graduate from Trinity College in '57.

Assisting the "Michaelmen" are a group of Trinity girls: Pat Myruski, Judy Tobin, Louella Apiki, Anita Gaboriault, and Mellina Barrara.

Behind the scenes is a stage crew of 23 under the direction of John Haggerty.

OLD TRADITION

Back in the '30's here at SMC, the Passion Play was a traditional presentation.

Last year it was revived and put on by the combined efforts of Dr. Citarella and Rev. John Scully, SSE.

Two Officers Promoted To Captain

The U.S.A.F. announced today that Lt. Louis A. Bernabo and Lt. William M. Blakeslee were promoted to the rank of captain.

Lt. L.A. Bernabo

LT. BERNABO

Lt. Bernabo's promotion is affective April 10. He is a graduate of Trinity College and has attended the Air Force's Academic Instructors course for six weeks at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

He is the Moderator of the Drill Team and in charge of the "Nightflyer". Lt. Bernabo is married and lives in Burlington. He has been attending classes for his masters degree in education while here at St. Michael's.

Lt. W.M. Blakeslee

LT. BLAKESLEE

Lt. Blakeslee is from Richmond, Virginia, and his promotion goes into affect April 25. He attended Harvard Univ. and graduated in 1950.

While in Korea, he was awarded the Air Medal. He flew F-86 Fighter-Bombers and also served with the army as a forward air control observer for the Air Force.

Lt. Blakeslee attended the Academic Instructors Course for six weeks and a Squadron officers course for 14 weeks.

Frosh Have Communion Breakfast

by Dick Hickey

The Class of '61 is holding its Communion Breakfast on Palm Sunday, March 30, at The Park Cafe in Burlington. The Communion Mass will commence at 8:15 in the Chapel.

SPEAKER

Rev. Laurence A. Boucher, SSE, the moderator of the Freshman Class will be the guest speaker for the function. Father Boucher has prepared a topic which he believes will prove to be very interesting to all in attendance.

TRANSPORTATION

Free transportation to and from the Park Cafe will be provided. A generous friend who wishes to remain anonymous made three buses available to the Freshman Class.

Tickets for admittance are priced at $1.40. This includes juice, ham and eggs, toast, muffins, and coffee or milk.

The Freshman Class Officers wish to encourage all Freshmen to go to communion as a United body and then to participate in the social affair after the Mass.

Any Freshman that is interested and has not yet been approached is urged to get in touch with anyone of the class officers or representatives.

OKLAHOMA WEEKEND "P" Day Features Authentic Setting

There'll be ahooping and ahollering!

The first contingent of "Oklahomans" arrived on campus yesterday for the third annual P-Day celebrations. The boys, dressed in their casuals and totting their pop-guns, were anxious for the big day to arrive. Of course, not being able to be away from their trusty steeds and the tangy smell of a ranch, our "western friends" were taken out to a ranch where they posed for some pictures.

It was explained to the "cowboys" that P-Day is Preview and Publicity Day and that it is a traditional event on campus to show the student body what the proper dress for the Junior Weekend will be, some of the activities that will take place, and what the setting of the Weekend will be.

P-Day this year will be on April 16. Along with our four hard riding "guests", the Junior class will turn out en masse be-decked in traditional western regalia to change the campus into a cowtown. To insure peace and order on

Glee Club To Sing Concert With Saint Rose College

St. Michael's Glee Club will give a concert in conjunction with the College of St. Rose, on April 18th in Troy, New York. The concert will take place in the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Field House.

The concert was arranged through the Alumni of St. Michael's, in the Albany area, and the combined efforts of the Club officers, under Bill Shaughnessy, President of the Glee Club.

The Glee Club was picked from three other colleges including West Point, Providence, and Georgetown University, to attend this annual concert put on by St. Rose.

The St. Michael's Glee Club singing with some 60 voices strong will combine their talent with that of St. Rose and sing for an audience of at least 2500 people, which is the average for this annual affairs.

The concert program will consist of numbers done separately by each group, as well as the two groups combined.

THE PROGRAM

St. Michael's Glee Club will sing such numbers as "A Rovin'", "Mobile Boy", "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee", "Brush Up Your Shakespeare", "Adoramus" and "Testament of Freedom".

The combined Glee Clubs will sing, "Hallelujah", "Ave Verum," "Cindy," "Tribute

CHEM CLUB HOLDS SUGAR PARTY

Sugar on snow, a rare delicacy, will be enjoyed by the students of Trinity College, University of Vermont, Bishop DeGoesbriand, and Mary Fletcher Hospitals and St. Michael's College at the Sugar Party, Sunday, March 30, at St. Michael's College.

Tickets on sale at the door are forty cents per person and seventy-five cents a couple.

After meeting at 3 o'clock in front of Science Hall, a student car-cade will make a leisurely trip to a farm outside Burlington to see the actual boiling down of the tree sap.

Back at Science Hall, Al Brault, '59, will arrange for refreshments to be served along with the taffy which each couple will make individually. Special snow will be imported for the sugar-on-snow banquet.

To top off the afternoon everyone will be invited to a dance held in Science Hall.

SMC Debaters Travel To Holy Cross

Last weekend at Holy Cross College, the annual regional New England debate tournament was held. Thirty colleges and universities from New England sent two debaters each to participate. Eight rounds of debates were scheduled and each team was compelled to debate both sides of the question. Representing St. Michael's were: junior, Henry Fortier, and freshman, Paul LoRusso. Debating Club moderator, Mr. John Stewart, acting as coach and judge, accompanied the debaters to Holy Cross.

Means To An End

The manner of a recent attack upon the curriculum and academic standing of a nearby University by one of their faculty members is indeed unfortunate. The accuracy of his specific charges is something of which we are not in a position to judge, nor do they effect our lives or involve us. However, his general remarks do concern us as members of the college community.

We can agree with the professor when he claims an anti-intellectual bent is being reflected in most colleges. We can also agree that very often campus activities, politics and rah-rah sports are considered of greater value than true education by the student.

But for these problems in general and those specific ones that may or may not exist on the University campus, the professor offers as a solution, one with which we can not agree in any way. He hopes that with the ashes of John Dewey being brought back to the University for a celebration will also be brought his ideas on education. To the contrary we hope that his ideas are soon intered with those very ashes.

Dewey's head-on collision with our own ideas on education is well brought out by two of his often quoted pronouncements; "The aim of education should be to teach the child to think --- not what to think", and "A moral law, unlike a law in physics is not something to swear by and stick to at all hazards."

The Encyclopedia Britannica (1948) says of Deweyism: "The starting point of Dewey's thought is biological, he sees man as an organism in an environment, remaking as well as made. Things are to be understood through their origins and their functions without the intrusion of supernatural consideration." "Thinking begins not with promises, but with difficulties, and it concludes not with certainty, but with a hypothesis that can be made 'true' only by the pragmatic sanction of experiment." While we would emphasize the ends of learning, Deweyism emphasizes the means of learning because he views the ends as all relative and their value to be fleeting. As a source of learning Deweyism denies facts accepted from others and revealed truth. It denies that as faculties, will, faith and conscience can be employed.

But most important, we cannot accept the professor's solution because the end of Dewey's system is to produce an "adaptible citizen". But the end of ours is as Cardinal Newman put it; "to produce the whole thoughtful man who having assumed the greatest thought of Western man brings to the society in which he lives, a fully developed mentality and personality --- an attitude so well attuned to what is right that it cannot suffer the existence of any intellectual fraud or cultural perversion."

Vive La France?

We Americans are wont to complain that our European allies have no real affection for us, that Britain and France are held to us by financial ties only. If this is true, it is our own fault. How can our allies have a genuine liking for a country that often disregards their national interest, constantly reminds them of their economic dependency, and publicly tells them that they can no longer use certain methods in their private quarrels without our approval?

A recent example is our treatment of France in the Tunisian incident two weeks ago. The State Dept., headed by the Grand Inquisitor of international diplomacy, John Foster Dulles, surveyed the situation in a myopic manner, and in a lordly, holier-than-thou attitude, told France that such strong arm tactics could not be tolerated by the U.S. We then apologized to Tunisia because equipment made in the U.S. had been used by France in their attack. This would be an admirable stand had this been a purely aggressive action by France. However, it certainly appears that France's attack was far from unprovoked.

How then do we presume to pass judgment on our allies and subtly threaten them if they refuse to conform to our standard of conduct? It is absurd to think that a once-powerful British Empire and a moribund France can find any attraction to us other than the financial assistance and military security we offer. We are overplaying our hand if we persist in imposing these Big Brother-like restriction on our proud allies.

LETTERS

To the Editor of the MICHAELMAN;

While re-reading a back issue of the student newspaper (Feb. 8th) I could not help but notice your headline "Winter Issue of Lance set for February 20". As is quite obvious your conjecture is considerably inaccurate. While unfortunate, that your story was wrong, this of course is not the major problem, but rather that the Lance is now over a month late. Maybe someone doesn't wish to break the precedent set by the last issue. However, the problem, as I see it, is two-fold. First, a very important student activity seems to have gone defunct. Our catalog says; "Students who are interested in developing their writing skills are invited to join the staff of the college literary magazine." I hope that no one has depended on the one issue so far to develop to any degree their ability in creative writing. The Editor of the Lance also stated in your article that he hoped there would be more interest in writing in general. May I suggest that he use a different stimulus. The Quill seems also to have just laid down and stopped breathing. I hope this is not indicative of the Inter-Class Writing Contest it is designed to encourage. It is indeed an unfortunate situation when these valuable outlets of student interest have atrophied.

This brings us to a second question. $820 were allocated for the publication of four issues of this magazine. In other words we are paying (and quite dearly) for something we just aren't going to get. Certainly the six weeks left aren't going to produce two issues of the Lance (one is rumored to be at the printers). I might also point out that we pay for the Quill, too.

In view of this situation I have several questions perhaps you or the people involved can answer. Where is the Lance, the Quill? Who are the Editors of these fast growing fictions? Where is the money that was allocated? What is going to happen to the rest of it? What is going to happen to the rest of it? What has the Student Council Club Status Committee done about the situation? And finally, just what does a student do if he'd like to develop his writing skill?

Anxiously,

Dennis F. Horgan, Jr.

NEWS BRIEFS

Dr. Mischa H. Fayer, chairman of the Russian Department at Middlebury College gave a return lecture on campus recently, on "Russia Revisited". The latest speaking engagement was sponsored by the Politics Club. It was very well attended.

Dr. Fayer first spoke to Michaelmen last February, when he was the third speaker of the lecture series sponsored by the Student Council. It was one of the most popular lectures ever presented on campus. Dr. Fayer is well qualified to speak on Russia since he spent the first 20 years of his life in that country and made a tour of it last year.

A reminder to any interested students is that the deadline for the Science Writing Contest is March 31st. The contest, sponsored by the Biology Club, is opened to all Michaelmen and may treat of such topics as "American Science vs. Russian Science"; "Philosophy of Nature and Modern Science"; or, "Is Polio Conquered?" A prize of $10 will be awarded

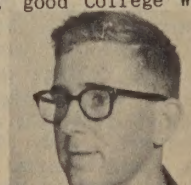
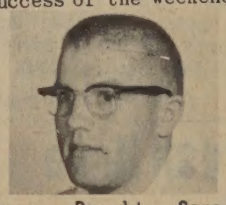
by Lawrence X. Clifford

With the coming of Junior Weekend, there are many controversial questions discussed on campus. Perhaps this is one of them.

Is a name band a necessity for a good College Weekend?



Senior, John Munroe, Lewiston, Maine. A name band is not always necessary for good dance music. But, on the other hand, a name band is an attraction to the weekend. A popular band adds to a good sale of tickets which is essential to the success of the weekend.



Junior, Donald Sprafke, Meriden, Conn. The name band is essential to a good College Weekend due to the fact that it adds to the color of the weekend. Since it is customary to have a name band like "Buddy Morrow", it is not a true weekend without a big name band.

Sophomore, Peter Dowling, Bellerose, L.I., N.Y. With a big name band, the College Weekend is more colorful as well as being more of an attraction to the college student. Also, you are more apt to get good dance music from the big name band.

Freshman, Kevin Bergen, Bayside, L.I., N.Y. I've been to only two College Weekends before, and neither one had a name band for the ball. The big name outfit would be an asset to the College Weekend. I'm looking forward to Junior Weekend because of the Big Name Orchestra.

to Victor Herbert," "Sanctus" from St. Cecelia's Mass, and the finale of the concert; "Stars and Stripes Forever".

KNIGHTLIGHTERS

Also participating in the concert will be the Knightlighters from St. Mike's and the Rocethians from St. Rose. Both groups are composed of eight members. They will do numbers of their own and join together to sing, "Old Woman" and "While Strolling Through the Park One day."

The Knightlighters, a group established last year, will sing "Standing in the Need of Prayer," "Sentimental Journey" and "Zekiel Saw the Wheel."

TICKETS

The price of the tickets are in three categories, patron tickets, $10.00 (couples); general admission, $2.50 (single); and high school, .75.

The Glee Club will leave Friday the 18th for the College of St. Rose. Upon arriving in the afternoon, rehearsal will be held for the group numbers at the college. The concert will begin at 8:30 in the evening.

A dance will be put on after the concert at the St. Rose Gymnasium for the members of the Glee Club.

The members of the Glee Club will stay in homes provided by the Alumni of the college.

OTHER PLANS

Bill Shaughnessy, President of the Glee Club has also disclosed, that a possible concert may be put on in Bennington, Vermont, to defray expenses of the trip. Since the beginning of the year, the Glee Club has put on concerts in Richmond, Swanton, and Castleton, Vermont.

If such a concert is given, it will be given on April 17th. The Glee Club then would leave Thursday instead of Friday and return early Saturday.

The honorary chairman for the concert is Bishop William J. Scully, D.D.; honorary chairman for St. Rose, Bishop Edward J. Maginn, V.G. and honorary chairman, Father Francis E. Moriarty, S.S.E.

The proceeds of the concert will go to the St. Rose Building Fund.

SETS BY RATHGEB

Scenery setting of the '57 production will be used again this year. This setting was designed specifically for "Shekels" by Mr. Donald Rathgeb formally the Technical Supervisor for Players' Incorporated.

The set consists of one background scene composed of four levels to be used throughout the five acts of the play. Scene shifts are effected by indirect lighting and the change of a few minor props. Work on the sets and the setting up of the props is under the direction of John Haggerty.

BACKGROUND AND MEANING

"Shekels", the Passion Play, was written by William Thomas Walsh. The name "Shekels" in Jewish means silver money. It represents the 30 shekels that paid for the betrayal of Christ. The musical background will be provided by the SMC Glee Club under the direction of Mr. John Donoghue. The Club will sing "Let Every Tongue Adore Thee."

Student tickets to "Shekels" are available in the Book Store at the student price of 75¢. All are cordially invited.

Officers

Besides being commadant of cadets and in charge of the band, he is attending class for his masters in economics. He is also married and lives in South Burlington.

Debaters

The top three positions were won by Harvard, MIT, and Dartmouth respectively. These teams will attend the National Debate Tourney, held yearly at West Point, sometime next month.

This was the first time that St. Michael's Debate Club attended the invitational tournament and although they did not win, Mr. Stewart said, "The debaters gained invaluable experience from the keen varsity competition." Despite the inclement weather, the tournament itself was quite successful.

OTHER DEBATES

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the other St. Michael's varsity debaters were unable to attend the Sienna Tournament held at Albany, N.Y., on the same weekend.

The other tournament remaining in the second semester will be the annual Dartmouth Novice Tourney held April 25th and 26th. This Tourney will complete the clubs inter-collegiate debate schedule.

Sugar Party

the Chemistry Club, which sponsors the annual affair, also invites the faculty and their families to attend, free of expense. The annual get-together celebrates the opening of the syrup season.

Publicity for the party is being taken care of by Mike Wallace.

News

for the winning essay from the Freshmen and Sophomore classes and another $10 for that from the upperclassmen. Essays should be submitted to Paul Lombardi, Alumni 305.

William Burke, a junior, has just received notification that he has been accepted to enter Seton Hall University's Medical School this Fall. He will be entering graduate school after only three years at St. Michael's. Bill has been on the Dean's List since his Freshman year. Last year, he was second of his class.

John Haggerty, president of the Knights and Knaves Dramatics Club, announced this year that the production of Hasty Heart has been cancelled altogether. Originally scheduled for November, the play was first postponed because of the virus which then swept the campus. It was rescheduled for April. Haggerty said that it was impossible to find an open and suitable date after Easter to present the play.

Foreign students from Iran, Persia, and Canada display their enthusiasm at a Persian Art exhibit. The exhibit took place in honor of the annual Perisan "Norooz" holiday celebrating equinox. The celebration was last weekend in Science 307 with speeches, displays and dancing.

All Saint Michael's Students are cordially invited to attend the 12th Annual Congress of the New England Region, National Federation of Catholic College Students. The Congress will convene at the Bradford Hotel, April 18-20.

Michaelmen who are interested in attending the Congress are urged to contact Tom Hurcomb, Alumni 418, for further information.

Oklahoma

Hilltop, it was disclosed to this reporter that a marshall and three deputies were "hired" for P-Day. If they can handle some of the tough hombres in Hilltop, they will be kept on the payroll for the Junior Weekend.

The highlight of P-Day will be a square dance in front of Austin Barn which is near the the Hilltop Hospital. The Hilltop chamber of commerce will import about 15 "dance hall" girls from the nearby town of "Trinity" (otherwise known as Trinity College). Even "Nails" Maloney, one of the "visiting cowpokes", was highly impressed when his buddy "Ghost" Shaughnessy, told him that "'there's agonna be some gals hare'". The dance will start at high noon.

For any of those who don't have their broncs with them on P-Day, there will be free transportation in the newly acquired buckboard. The stage route runs from the Ryan Spread, by the Alumni Ranch, and stops at Hilda's Cafe (the dining hall for non-natives). Another route will run from the Old Hall Hotel, where most of the dudes are staying, to Hilda's.

Of course no western would look appropriate without some horses tied to a hitching post so "Nails" and his crew promised to bring their horses into Hilltop for the P-Day festivities.

AFROTC Cadets To Attend Nat'l Conclave

Cadet Lt. Col. Albert L. Sasseville, Commander of the John J. Verret Squadron of the Arnold Air Society, will attend the Society's national convention to be held this year in San Francisco, California.

Sasseville accompanied by Richard Manning, a Cadet Major and Junior member of Arnold Air, will be flown to California by the Air Force. An air lift of Cadet delegates from colleges throughout the country is being undertaken by the Tactical Air Command. The delegates from this area will depart from Otis Air Force Base in Massachusetts.

The convention which is held annually to discuss national policy, problems, and projects of the Arnold Air Society, is being sponsored this year by the Col. George Steel Squadron of the University of California. As a Junior member of the Society last year, Sasseville also attended the national convention which was held in New York City.

Michaelmen To Donate Blood

Michaelmen will flock to Austin Hall Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in an attempt to have their campus regain the title of being "The Bloodiest Campus In The Country".

The honor was lost last Fall when The Red Cross blood drawing fell below its quota. This was mainly due to the virus which then incapacitated many students.

Under the sponsorship of The Biology Club, Red Cross hope to meet the quota of 150 pints.

Mr. Edward Stearn, Administrator of The Vermont, New Hampshire Blood Program pointed out to the MICHAELMAN the advantages to be had from donating blood. Students of the college who are not residents of this state are eligible to any amount of blood needed in case of mishap. They are eligible from the time of their enrollment in the college until graduation.

Whether they be in the United States or Canada, their blood needs will be provided for gratis in any hospital. If they should draw from a Blood Bank outside of Vermont or New Hampshire, this center will replenish the bank that they should draw from.

A ten dollar prize will be awarded to the winning floor among the residence halls or barracks which donates the greatest number of pints.

Before switching from the hoop season to the baseball season, we should look back again at basketball. Sure the season is over but how much did we learn from this season? Number one is that as far as we are concerned the Purple Knights are the best small college team in the country. Why are they the best though? Sure they are a great club, but ask any ball player on the team why they did so good. And the answer you'll get will be, "Down in Waltham and Evansville when we heard all the fans behind us singing the "Saints", etc. we just had to win". So just about now everyone who followed the team should take a bow for themselves, but before you bow too low, listen to this. How is it that everyone gets their spirit all of a sudden near the end of the season? This holds true not only for this season but last season too. As soon as the Knights get a tourney bid everyone realizes that there is a ball club on the Hilltop. There were times this season when the hoopsters could have used some cheering from the stands, especially down at Norwich, which by the way is only an hours drive away. But what happened? . . . Nobody there to cheer. WHY? Let's start early next season and follow the Knights all the way!

Still on the basketball tract, two of the Purple Knights were picked for Little All-American berths, as Tony Nicodemo was named on the second team and Hank Gretkowski received an honorable mention award. Congratulations!

"Doc" Jacobs just returned from Louisville, Ky., where he attended the NCAA big college tourney. He is trying to get some big name teams on the schedule for next year. Talk around campus says that the Knights are traveling to Oregon and California next year. Next years home schedule includes up till now 8 home games plus the SMC Christmas Invitational, which is before Christmas this year as the Hilltoppers are traveling up to Maine for the Maine Invitational which is after Xmas.

The Baseball season started on the hilltop Tuesday even though the field is covered with a foot of snow. Coach Ed Markey says the team will be in good condition from practice inside when opening day comes on April 26 against Plattsburgh Teachers. With only 8 players returning from last years' squad there will be room for many of last years' Frosh talent to break into the line up. And from what the Sophs say about their team of last year we should be in for quite a season. Here is another chance for the "Spirit" on the hilltop to show, why not follow the team at least in their 8 home games.

Interclass Rifle Competition

By Dick Allen

The annual Interclass Rifle Competition will take place after the Easter recess from April 21-25. Each of the four classes will be represented by six men. In charge of the four teams are: Jack Keating, Seniors; Dean McNulty, Juniors; Ed White, Sophomores; and Wallace Anctil, Freshmen. A screening of competitors has taken place this past week under the supervision of the Class Captains. This screening has enabled them to eliminate all team rosters to six members.

PRACTICE

A practice session will be held for the teams from the 14th to the 18th of April. Each man will fire three stages. Each stage will consist of 5 shots in each of three positions: prone, kneeling, and off-hand. The top four scores in each stage will count for each team. The places will be determined by the aggregate score of the three stages.

The points for Interclass competition will be awarded on the following basis: The high aggregate team score (possible 1800) first place and 15 points. The second high aggregate team score (possible 1800), second place and 10 points. Third high aggregate team score (possible 1800), third place and 5 points. The high individual aggregate (possible 450) will be awarded an additional 10 points.

MATCHES

The matches will be held during the week of April 21 - 25 inclusive. Due to class schedules students may fire more than one stage a day.

BOWLING TEAMS END IN TIE

By Jack Dillon

The Juniors and Seniors finished the Interclass Bowling season in a tie on Tuesday night. On March 4th, the Juniors held a lead of 1 point over the Seniors. Since then the Juniors have picked up 7 points by beating the Frosh 4-0 and the Sophs 3-1, while the Seniors have gathered up 8 points as a result of default by the Sophs and Freshmen.

Hill At Helm Of Sailors

At a recent meeting of the Sailing Team, elections were held and the following officers were appointed to head the team for the coming year: Bill Hill, this year's Commodore will again lead the Sailors during the '58-'59 season; Al Jordan, '60, will hold the Vice-Commodore position; John Moore, '61, is Rear-Commodore; and Pete Culhane, '61, will do the Secretary's chores.

The first meet of the season will be held on April 19, if the ice is off Malletts Bay at that time. The Sailing Knights will be racing against crews from Amherst and Middlebury.

THE TEAM

For the information of the freshmen and newcomers to the Hilltop; the Sailing Team was started in 1951. We have three "Turnabout" dinghies, which are nine-foot plywood boats. We are Provisional members of the New England Intercollegiate Sailing Association (NEISA) and race on an inter-collegiate level. There are both Varsity and Freshman teams and competition in Inter-Class Sailing is also held.

Preparations have been started to make the boats "Ship-shape" for the coming season and team members are busy sanding and painting in anticipation of those sunny Spring days ahead.

With repaired boats, a full schedule of races, and an active membership, the Sailors hold high hopes of a busy and successful year.

SPRING RACING SCHEDULE

The Spring Racing Schedule is as follows:

April 19: Varsity at Worcester Polytechnic Institute
April 20: Home (Middlebury - Amherst)
April 27: NE Champ Elims at MIT
May 10: Frosh at Medford
May 11: Phelphs Trophy Race at Dartmouth

Last Tuesday night, the Juniors defeated the Sophs 3-1. Neil Shea led the Juniors by bowling 211, which is high game for the season. The Sophs won the first spring of the evening, led by "Moose" Zeitler. The Juniors came back despite the loss of their high scorer John Stevens and won the next two strings and then copped their final point by getting the most total points.

The playoff for the Championship will be held some time right after Easter vacation.

INTERCLASS SKIERS TO RACE

The Interclass Ski Competition will be concluded Thursday, April 17, when the slalom race is held at the Jeffersonville Ski Ways in Smuggler's Notch.

JUNIORS LEAD

The downhill race was held during Winter Carnival Weekend and was won by John Corskie of the Juniors. At present the Juniors are in the lead in the quest for the fifteen interclass points, with the Seniors in hot pursuit. The Freshmen, in 3rd place, have a slight edge over the cellar-dwelling Sophs.

The race will begin at 2:30 P.M. sharp, and failure to field a team at race time will result in disqualification.

FOUR MEN

The number of entries will be unlimited but each team must have a minimum of four men as the four best times will be counted toward the team totals.
